

Stronger Buildings for a Safer World

Code updates are in order for stronger buildings and site development regulation

By Don Neff

The International Building Code (IBC) 2021 Code Book is the most comprehensive update in the code's history. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

Don Neff is President of LJP Construction Services. For more information, visit www.ljpltd.com.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

“Studies from agencies like FEMA have shown that the adoption of modern building codes averts billions of dollars in structural damage.”

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.

The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction. The IBC 2021 Code Book is the result of a multi-year process of updating the code to reflect the latest research and best practices in building construction.